PREFACE

It is with great pleasure I present this booklet to you on the biography of our common ancestor, William Kirkpatrick, which includes a picture of the family coat of arms for our Kirkpatrick line of ancestry. These badges of distinction were the reward of personal merit, and could be secured by the humblest as well as the highest. They are today the testimonials and warrants of bravery, heroism, and meritorious deeds of our ancestors; and they appeal to the pride of the intelligent and enlightened descendants of these families. The crest worn on top of the shield, usually placed on a wreath, was borne by knights and other personages of rank, when clad in armor, to distinguish them in battle, and as a mark to their followers and supporters. At first these badges were worn on the helmet, to render them more plainly visible, or on the arm, but in later times were transferred to the shield or armor. The heraldic description of our badge is: Arms - "Argent, a saltire azure, on a chief of the last, three cushions, or." Crest - "An arm embowed in armor, the hand grasping a bloody sword, all proper." Colors - "Argent (silver), Azure (blue), Or (gold), Proper (natural color)."

A lilt of the voice, with the tilt of the head of a proud people, and the laughter in the eyes will bespeak the Irish blood. To do justice to this trait of character, mention should be made of the Irish temper and gift of gab! One description so aptly put about an Irishman, "He breezes in as a nomad of the night might pull a latchstring, flings open the door, steps in out of the darkness, then makes himself at home in a stranger's house."

Appreciation of thanks is expressed to the people answering letters of inquiry, helping locate records, family Bibles, and old land records. No record compiled on genealogy is ever complete or perfect, and the author assumes full responsibility on the shortcomings of this book.

CHAPTER I

William Kirkpatrick, our immigrant ancestor, was b Ireland ca. 785. When he was a young man, he left home to seek a life for himself in America. He m Martha Ellen Hays ca. 1813. She was a native of Pennsylvania, b 9 Sept 1797. Our search for information found hey lived in a little log cabin amid homely surroundings near the iny villages of New Richmond and Laurel, in Clermont County, southeast of Cincinnati, Ohio, which was the leading city of the west for many years. The "Buckeye" state was admitted to the Union in 1803, and developed rapidly after 1815, and oddly enough Ulysses S. Grant and his parents lived almost neighbors to our Kirkpatrick ancestor, at the village of Point Pleasant, Ohio.

Between the years of 1823 - 9, William and Martha Kirkpatrick sought to establish a new home in the frontier and traveled through a wild, unsettled country, over many miles where few white men lived to the newly formed county of Edgar, in Illinois. Facing dangers from the Indians and undergoing great hardships, they settled near the village of Bloomfield in Edgar township, Illinois. From the general history of Edgar County, Illinois, we found that General John Edgar was a native of Ireland, and, in 1776, at the beginning of The American Revolution, was in the service of the British Government as an officer of a naval force on one of the American lakes. During the year named, he brought his wife to this country, and though he still continued in the service of the King, he nevertheless sympathized with the American cause, and many acts of kindness to the enemies of the English are recorded as having their origin in this noble-hearted man. Though he sustained himself until near the close of the war, as a British officer, he was yet suspected of being disloyal. Finally, the British cause became so distasteful to him that he could no longer endure it, and he resigned his office. Soon after his resignation, he removed to Illinois and located at the town of Kaskaskia. He was very wealthy and expended much of his means in building up the place. He built here the finest mansion in the Northwest Territory. General Edgar was a true Irish gentleman, and as such, his fine mansion was always open to rich and poor alike, and while he entertained his wealthy and refined friends in a manner befitting their position, no begger was ever sent from his door without receiving more than he had reason to expect. For a number of years, he was the wealthiest man and paid the largest taxes in all of the Northwest Territory. In 1823 when Edgar County was formed, the territory now called by the name of Edgar twp. was included in the three townships of Fairfield, Wayne, and Carroll, a small portion of the south being within the limits of Fairfield, and the balance being nearly equally divided north and south between Carroll and Wayne, the old State road passing through Bloomfield being the line between the two. At this time, there was not more than one family in what is now Edgar township. Joshua Martin had then lived for about a year on what has since been known as the Stage farm. Mr. Martin kept the post office at his place until Bloom-field was founded, when it was transferred to that place. Wm. Drake settled very soon after Martin, if not quite as early. During the five years following the advent of the Lowry family, principal among the pioneers of the township were Harrison and Hubbel Sprague, Wm. and Jacob Wyatt, James Marrs and Wells Morgan. The Spragues were from Vermont. They came with their father, then an elderly man, who here died.

In 1829, a number of families came out from Ohio and Kentucky and settled in the neighborhood, and some of the parties soon after founded the town. This was in reality a colony, and their location here proved to be one of the most important events in the history of the township. They were people of much more than ordinary character and intelligence, and their influence on the social and moral interests of this part of the county has been felt to this day. Among those who settled here at that time were James and William Gordon, John and James Riley, Joseph Odey, Samuel McClain, John McKee and Abram Conroy. In 1830 and 1833, Ensign Mitchell, Solomon Bond, and Wm. Barr came to the township. Edgar twp. was first organized April 7, 1857, at first being named Bloomfield twp. The village of Bloomfield was laid out by the Rev. John W. Riley, March 17, 1831. Mr. Riley had established a store and sold some goods, and the Gordon brothers had established their tannery. A blacksmith shop was also in operation. It was near the fine little stream of Brouillett Creek and on the main traveled highway between Paris and Chicago.

From the estate proceedings of our ancestor Kirkpatrick on file at Edgar Co., Illinois, we found he owned 163 acres of land, buying land from Abraham Conroy in 1834 and Wm. Gordon in 1836. As a taxpayer, his receipt for 1838 was $3.09, and $5.91 in 1839. A man of great energy, foresight, honesty and ambition, his success in the new world over a period of twenty years was to be broken up and his estate all but vanish. He came to an untimely death on November 20, 1838. About his illness, Doctor Wm. Clark was called to the Kirkpatrick home on 31 Aug, and 1 Sept receiving pay of $1.00 per visit plus the medications of castor oil, cathartics and nitrate powders. Apparently the illness progressed and on 20 Nov. 1838, another Doctor, James M. Conduitte, was summoned from 50 miles distance. This doctor received payment of $4.62½ for mileage, for a spleen mixture, 50¢ for espispastic plaster, and 50¢ for section. His total bill was $7.62½ as presented by Dr. Conduitte. Without question, he apparently died at this time, as evidenced by the fact that on Nov. 20, 1838, at Bloomfield, William Wood ordered his burying clothes from H. and J. Clark - 8 yds. Black Domestic @ .31 ¼ or $ 2.50, and 1 pr. cotton stockings @ 50¢ - Total $ 3.00. We also found a receipt, dated Nov. 31, for $7.00, for a coffin made for Wm. Kirkpatrick, deceased, by J. W. Riley. His funeral expense amounted to $46.33.

John McKee was legally appointed to serve as the administrator of our Kirkpatrick ancestor's estate, and David Light as guardian of three minor children - Nancy, Margaret and Robert. Notice of administration ran for 4 weeks at cost $2.00, in the Illinois Statesman, newspaper, and the receipt was dated 14 Dec 1838. On 28 November, John Manning, Collins Jolliffe, and Wm. Wood appraised the personal goods of Wm. Kirkpatrick, dec., each receiving 75¢ for their fee. This schedule included such items as: one breaking plough, one shovel plough, rifle gun, four axes, iron wedge, one wagon, three pair horse gears, four blind bridles, saddles, grindstone, loom, weaving machines, clock, scythes, 100 bu. corn, wheat, one flock sheep, milch cows, cows, one bull, heifers, steers, three calves, one lot stock hogs, one lot of pigs 18 in number, one lot of fat hogs, two sorrel mares, 1 bay mare, 1 sorrel horse, 1 colt yearling, 2 grey colts, etc. A sale of personal property was held 21 Dec 1838, and Patrick Cowan clerked the sale for a fee of $1.00. The sale bill listed the items, price and who purchased them. James E. Gordon received $1.00 for crying the sale. The amount from the sale was $352.23. Finally, one-third of the settled estate was received by the widow, Martha. Also she was allowed one horse and saddle by law. Balance of estate to legal heirs and to guardian of the minor heirs - each an equal portion of said balance.

The widow, Martha, remarried on 9 Sept 1841, to widower Wm. Stillwell, native of Kentucky, b 1794. He had two sons: Wm. and Joseph, born in Illinois. They continued to live in Edgar County, and a daughter was born to them in Iowa Territory in 1842, where the combined families had moved and settled on a farm in Jefferson County, Locust Grove twp., Iowa. They are listed as being 1848 voters of that county. Wm. Stillwell d Sept 1850. Martha d 27 April 1876, burial in Memphis Cemetery, Memphis, Missouri.

KIRKPATRICK

Variations: Kirkwood, Kirkland, Kirtland, Kirkaldy, Kirkby, Kirkley

Racial origin: English

Source: Localities

The word "Kirk" is the same word as "church," the former pronunciation having developed in the North England and the Anglo-Saxon part of Scotland, while the southern English gradually evolved the word "church."

All of these family names indicate that their first bearers had lived at one time in one of several towns or communities. Kirkpatrick (which means Patrick's Church), is a place name in Scotland, as also is Kirkaldy, Kirkwoods tracing back to medieval times, are to be found in at least two places in England.
